From the Malvern Red and Black Society

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The leaves are beginning to change colour and a new school year has begun. The summer was fun and now your MRBS is excited to start a new year of activity. We are planning several projects and events for you. Read about these upcoming events in this Musings issue and plan to join us! We hope you enjoy the stories that fellow Malvernites have shared with all of us.

Your Red and Black Society supports the Onward Malvern Foundation. The OMF is a tax-exempt charitable foundation started by a group of the Malvern C.I. staff, parents, friends of MCI and your Malvern Red & Black Society (alumni). It will provide a central focus for fund-raising efforts to support student scholarships, equipment and facility upgrades, MRBS communications and school archives restoration.

We believe in the OMF because it is directed by all parties (including your MRBS) who share an interest and commitment to the betterment of Malvern C.I. This appeal is also sent to parents and friends of MCI. Every project may be worthwhile but we prefer that our members not be deluged with various fund-raising appeals throughout the year. The OMF will coordinate these efforts so this will not occur and that donations will be utilized efficiently. Your MRBS is confident of this so we will advertise one, annual OMF appeal. The MRBS and OMF are administratively and financially independent. When you received the recent OMF Appeal or notice of available membership benefits (e.g. Johnson Insurance), your privacy is always protected. Our members list is never sold nor shared with any outside party. No person will contact you, unless you request it.

Our mandate is distinct from the OMF. To enable us to "Keep Malvernites in Touch", we need to retain the right to generate our own revenues, to be financially self-sufficient. To that purpose, we have sold souvenirs, accepted donations and will provide advertising channels. After careful consideration, we will make available to our members, exclusive services and products (e.g. Johnson Insurance). We hope that you benefit from what we make available. If you utilize these benefits then the MRBS receives financial support too.

We will continue a full schedule of activities to "Keep Malvernites in Touch". This takes money. That is why we support the OMF and will continue our own revenue generating activities. We carefully consider the appropriateness of everything we do and our members' privacy is always our prime concern.

Randy Deffett, Class 1977

WHAT'S NEW AT MALVERN

Teachers retire: Four of Malvern's teachers have decided to retire this year. Hank Hoos (Science) and Penny Vincent (French Immersion) both taught for 8 years at Malvern. Ian Urquhart (Geography) was at MCI for 15 years, and Shauna Earle (Art) for 17 years. They will be missed. We wish them the best in their new endeavours.

Former Malvern Teacher dies: The Malvern community has been saddened by the passing of one of its former teachers. Anne-Marie Weston passed away on May 13 after fighting cancer. Mme Weston taught for many years at Malvern in its French Immersion department. She specialized in mathématiques and informatique (computer studies). As well, she served as staff sponsor for the yearbook. Our best wishes go to her family.

MALVERN 50=s DECADE REUNION PHOTOS/VIDEO CLIP AVAILABLE FROM MRBS

To all the MCI alumni who attended the Malvern 50=s Decade Reunion at the Balmy Beach club on the 27th May, 2006-----here is your opportunity to purchase a CD or DVD (with video clip of the MCI Dance Combo) containing about 117 photos of your friends and hopefully yourself! This collection was made possible by incorporating photos taken by Madeleine Poole and Jean McCormack, together with an 8 minute video clip taken by Rod Tennyson. The photos are contained on a CD and DVD, with the video clip only on the DVD.

If you would like to obtain a copy of either disc, please send me your name and mailing address (via email is OK to speed up delivery), with a cheque (made payable to the Malvern Red Black Society) to the following address:

MRBS Reunion, c/o Rod Tennyson, 614-99 Harbour Sq, Toronto, ON M5J 2H2

CD with 117 photos can be accessed on PC, slide show, and copies of photos can be printed for your enjoyment. Zooming on photos will often allow you to read the name tag. If this does not work, and you are really keen to know who the person is, send me the photo number and I will ask the committee members who seem to know most of these folks! Price: $12 (includes postage).

DVD with 117 photos & 8 minute video clip of Dance Combo can be accessed on your PC, slide show format, including video. Stop the slide show to view individual slides. It comes in two volumes. The DVD might not work on a DVD player, but it works OK on the PC. Price: $15 (includes postage).

I hope to see you all again in three years (great demand to do this again!). Stay well and thanks for coming and sharing common memories. Best wishes in the years ahead. Stay in touch if you wish. Cheers for now! Rod Tennyson. (Class of 56)

Here are fond memories of some of those '50's alumni of their days at MCI.....

Rod Tennyson (Class of 56) B.A.Sc., M.A.Sc., Ph.D., F.C.A.S.I., P.Eng. Director, University of Toronto Institute for Aerospace Studies (1985 -1995)

I attended Malvern from 1951 to 1956--some of my fondest memories are from those days. When I graduated and went on to university (Toronto, Engineering Physics, Aerospace), the "best" days vanished and the real world had to be faced--tough competition from all over Canada, little time to play, stress levels rising just to succeed.

Malvern was a "home" away from home - great buddies, fantastic girl friends, caring teachers who wanted you to succeed, sports, acting club, and Friday night dances. I remember some teachers very well. Mr. Warren - grade 9, who taught us gym (I learned to do back flips there), junior football coach, learned algebra--took me a few weeks to catch on! Other notable teachers were Mr. Sage, Mr. Rhamey, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Jewell (ended up a few times in his office!), Mr. Stulac --the one the girls went crazy over...he talked me out of becoming a teacher when I went to college.

Our French teacher for several years, (Mr. Wakefield), a great guy, always answered a question on why a certain phrase was used by saying, "If 50 million Frenchmen say it that way, so will you!" We learned Latin because we were told it would help us with other languages, and be useful for those who went into medical school--they were partially right.

Malvern taught me discipline mixed with a great school attitude, high standards and emphasis on sports and broadening one's perspective. Who can forget the annual track meets down at the Beaches, with parades for boys in itchy brown military uniforms and wooden rifles left over from the war days I guess. The super Malvern band that played in the parades and in the regular sessions we had in the auditorium. I recall when Teresa Stratas sang for the school--she had just won a competition at the CNE--most of us guys had never heard opera singing and the powerful voice coming from someone so small! She of course went on to fame and glory. The Grade 13 exams and the preparation for them was the only stressful time I can recall while attending Malvern--except for worrying about track and football competitions and whether a particular girl really liked me.... We were given a week off in June (very hot that year) to study, and our performance determined whether we graduated and went to university.

I learned to envy those who came from the Beach--many came from families with considerable wealth (relative to my environment)--I came from the other side of the tracks (north of Danforth), as did Teresa. This experience instilled a great desire to succeed and the only route I saw was to make sure I went to university as far as I could go.

In retrospect this was the best experience I could have hoped for in the teenage years where too many diversions were available. The combination of high academic standards, with athletic competitions, access to cultural activities (acting club, music etc.) for those so inclined, combined with strong discipline paved the way... I am indebted to the Malvern staff for most of what prepared me for later in life.

As the "Boss" says, those were the Glory Days!!!

Beth McGregor (nee Patterson)
Class of 1956

My name is Beth McGregor (nee Patterson) and I graduated in 1956. I remember I used to walk to school every day from my home on Enderby Road to Malvern Collegiate. Enderby Road is one block west of Main Street. I walked north on Enderby to Swanwick and east along Swanwick to Malvern Avenue, about five or six blocks. (In those days one didn't ask their parents for a ride!) Most of the time it seemed like a very long walk to me, however, on several occasions I was joined by a young girl and our chats made the time go by more quickly.

We would usually talk about our weekend activities, vacations, family, you know the usual things. I remember one day she mentioned that she was taking singing lessons. I was a little envious of her because she was so attractive and outgoing and seemed so worldly. I still remember the day we had assembly and she was invited to sing. Then I found out just how special she really was (and is). What a beautiful voice! Of course it was Teresa Stratas. I credit Teresa for giving me an appreciation for opera.

Sixties Reunion Planned for May 2007 B Tentative Date May 26, 2009

The MRBS encourages groups from every decade to organise reunions for particular decades or years. We are happy to facilitate these happy events. The MRBS provides publicity through our newsletter and directed emailings (protecting the privacy of our members at all times), archival research, historical displays, and logistical support to graduates in forming organisational committees.

The 1960=s Reunion Committee is in the process of formation. So far, Wendy Truscott (=60), Madeleine Poole (=62) and Adele Ashby (=62) are willing to be part of this Committee. We need more volunteers! Last year, the very successful format used by the Fifties Reunion Committee was a monthly dinner meeting. Get to know your fellow 60=s Malvernites! Please email our webmail address at 1960s@malverncollegiate.com or phone our Alumni Hotline at (416) 393-8683 to volunteer or to get further information when it becomes available.

Balmy Beach Community School Celebrates its Centennial on May 12, 2007

Balmy Beach Community School will be celebrating 100 years of learning. The school is calling on all former students and staff to celebrate its Centennial at a reunion next May 12, 2007.

Originally named Pine Avenue School, Balmy Beach Community School was built in 1906 and opened with three teachers and a principal in January, 1907. The School was expanded over the next two decades, reaching a capacity of 827 students in 21 classrooms. In the early 1970s, plans to replace the old structure were approved and, with the community's input, a new Balmy Beach was built to be an integral part of the neighbourhood serving pre-schoolers, school-age children, adults and senior citizens.

Anyone wishing more information, please call Balmy Beach Community School at 416-393-1565.

Progress Report: 2006 MCI Marching Band Fundraising Project

We wish to thank everybody who responded to Bill Mighton's appeal to support the M.C.I. Marching band program. So far in 2006 you have helped us to raise over $3500 to buy new musical instruments.

After a long hiatus, Malvern C.I. successfully launched a return of the marching band program. We were a big hit in the April 2006 Beach Easter Parade and plan to return again in 2007. We have accepted an invitation to participate in an inaugural Beach Santa Claus Parade scheduled for November, 2006 (with a planned route down Kingston Road), as well as receiving an invitation to the prestigious downtown Santa Claus Parade, also in November. The Malvern Marching Band, an important symbol of M.C.I.'s presence in the community, is very much back in the public eye.

Over the 2005-2006 school year we put 55 band members in the famous Malvern kilt and tunic, and we look forward to greater numbers for 2006-2007! Uniforms that have been in use for many years, many since the 1960s, are wearing out or simply don't fit today's larger students. One new uniform (tunic, kilt, hat, and garters) costs over $1400. Money for uniforms is not available in the regular school budget, but must be obtained through continued fund-raising. The Marching Band Project is helping to revitalize an important tradition, and Malvern's community image.

Many thanks for your continued support and we hope you will find the time to see the marching band in action at these future events.

-R.C. Tennyson, July, 2006

As the current students of Malvern decide what to wear on the first day of school an age old debate may rear its ugly head.....

A picture appeared in Toronto Telegram, Sept. 15, 1954 of 3 Malvern boys with the caption "Fred Waters in jeans: Homeward-bound after school, Malvern Collegiate student Fred Waters, centre, wears controversial jeans, with schoolmates Tony Eeglon, left, and Jim Watt in more common strides."

The storm blew up when Malvern principal J.L.Kerr announced he would phone parents of about 30 jean-clad pupils, objecting to the denim trousers. (Today the parents, with few exception, wholeheartedly agreed with him!)

A flurry of letters to the Editor and related articles appeared.....

BOYS IN JEANS OUT AT MALVERN PRINCIPAL HOPES (Sept 1954 B no paper mentioned)

Jeans are Aout@ for the boys at Malvern.

Principal J.L.Kerr of Malvern Collegiate Institute and his teachers feel that sloppy appearance of the blue denim, copper-studded trousers give their wearers a sloppy approach to academic studies.

At first, Principal Kerr considered a Aboys-with-jeans-can=t-play-sports@ regulation but now says he will phone parents of the boys (about 25 or 30) who wear jeans, pointing out teachers= objections.

If parents approve, however, the jeans will stay.

THINKS JEANS ALL RIGHT (Toronto Star, Sept. 1954)

To the Editor of the Star.

Sir: I read that the principal of a high school objects to his boy students wearing jeans to school. This in not England where you have to wear an old school tie or you are definitely not in the elite. This is democratic Canada. I am hard put to buy jeans for my grandson at $5 a pair. He changes them twice a week and is always clean and that should be all that is necessary. He is in junior high school and is not clothes conscious. He is mostly interested in his studies. I dread the day when he washes his ears without being told and slicks his hair with grease because then I shall know he is girl conscious. At present he hates all women (me excepted of course)

MALVERN PARENT

USE OF JEANS IN SCHOOL (Ottawa Citizen Editorial, Sept. 1954)

Down in Toronto, where there always seems to be something new doing these days, the principal of Malvern Collegiate Institute, Mr. J.L. Kerr, wants a regulation prohibiting boys from wearing blue jeans. He contends that sloppy jeans lead to sloppy minds, and some members of the Board of Education support his non sequitur. It might be argued that sloppy habits of thinking, such as relating dress to intellectual capacity, is what leads to sloppy minds. Certainly, Mr. Kerr=s students don=t seem adversely affected by their jeans, because their first reaction was to take a look at the fact. Two years ago, their school had the highest percentage of fifth-year students to pass in the province.

To be sure, a slovenly appearance may be distasteful, but that is a different matter from sloppy thinking. An esthetic objection is valid, but is open to dispute. The appearance that one man dislikes, and I want him to stay that way for a long time. When a boy becomes clothes and girl conscious, his studies go out the window. We mothers and grandmothers have troubles enough without trying to buy fancy slacks for our boys.

GRANDMOTHER

BOYS JEANS AT MALVERN (Toronto Star, Sept. 1954)

To the Editor of the Star.

Sir: I think the principal would be wrong to try to enforce a ban against boy students at Malvern Collegiate wearing jeans to school. I believe such a move would be detrimental to the independence and morale of the student body. This country will have receded a long way from democracy when it comes to the point of students being told what to wear, and what not to wear to high school. I fear that students would not feel much like co-operating with authorities who issued any edict.

PARENTS SHOULD DECIDE (Toronto Star, Sept. 1954)

To the Editor of the Star.

Sir: As the law requires that I send my boy to school till he is 16 years of age, I feel I have the right to dress him as I can afford. In talking about banning jeans for boys attending Malvern Collegiate, Principal Kerr is apparently judging other people=s income at the high level of his own. May I, in all humility, suggest that Mr. Kerr stick strictly to his duties as director of the school and leave the matter of clothing to the judgment of the parents who know their own ability to pay.

another may find charming. Professor Einstein rarely has a crease in his pants or a part in his hair, but many find his appearance pleasing, though unusual.

Perhaps it=s only when the wearer gets somewhere around middle age, and jeans get too tight, that there can be no two opinions on the question. But jeans are something like the trousers that used to be worn by Mexican vaqueros. They=re made for slender youth, and youth should wear them.

..... and the issue on whether school uniforms are a good idea, what is appropriate to wear to school and the issue of individual freedom of expression continues to be debated between the school administration, parents and students today!

1950's Decade Reunion a Rocking Success!

As the Chair of the 1950's Decade Reunion Committee, I wish to thank them and all the volunteers for their great work and enthusiasm that resulted in a super reunion at the Balmy Beach Club on May 27th. The day was warm and sunny, unlike the many Saturdays that came before and after that week-end...we lucked out! Over 200 alumni and friends came to meet and greet each other, many not having seen their former classmates in over 50 years. The highlight of the day was the outstanding performance of the Malvern 1950's Dance Combo led by Bill Mighton, head of Music at MCI. The music and vocals blew most of us away---what a cool group of students, relaxed and having a good time. Their music ranged from Rock and Roll to Blues and sentimental favorites, and transfixed the alumni with their talent.

Members of the MRBS Archival Committee provided a wealth of photos and story boards from the decade. Alumni were amazed at how much information they had gathered and were delighted to recall fond and not-so-fond memories when stimulated by the rogue's photo gallery of teachers and past friends from school. Stories and laughs resounded throughout the day—with the common phrase being heard around the hall---“do you remember when...?”.

I also want to thank the alumni for their generous support of the Malvern Red & Black Society. We raised over $800 that day, enough to keep the Society afloat for many more months. Because of the intrepid Madeleine Poole who photographed just about everybody, we have assembled a CD and a DVD (with 8 minutes of live band music and vocals) with over 100 photos—available from the MRBS for those who want to relive that great day. The response has been so positive, the 50's decade alumni want to do it again....sooner rather than later---maybe in three years?

My thanks to Paul and Wendy (Lawson) Truscott who acted as MCs for the day, and Jean (Kernick) McCormack and Martha (Wade) Wall for all their support and creative ideas on how to run this event. A great organizing committee! The volunteers who came early and helped throughout the day, too numerous to mention here, were vital to the reunion's success.

My best wishes to all of you---thanks for coming—stay well and see you soon.

Cheers,
Rod Tennyson

NEWS AND PLANS FROM THE ARCHIVES COMMITTEE

From: Vandra Masemann, Chair

For all the items below, please contact us at archives@malverncollegiate.com, or leave a message on the Alumni Hotline at (416)393-8683, or mail us a letter directly to the school. We want to hear from you!

Senior Malvernites to be Honoured at the MRBS November Annual Meeting, November 5, from 1-4 pm.

Of course, MRBS from every decade are also welcome and encouraged to attend. Please confirm your attendance for us to plan for numbers. Thank you.

Malvern Oral History Project

Is anyone out there interested in being interviewed or interviewing other Malvernites on videotape, audiotape, or taking notes? We have some earlier interviews with Malvern graduates on audiotape but we ideally would like to interview Malvernites of every decade. We are in the process of setting up a project in which grads and present-day Malvern students can work together in collecting oral histories. We would also like to set up a committee which will run this project semi-autonomously. Please let us know if you would like to participate in any way.

Written Memories of Malvern

If you are shy about being interviewed in person or over the phone, please consider writing down your memories of Malvern and sending them to us on paper or by email. We would particularly appreciate your reminiscences of your first impressions of life at Malvern, specific teachers, subjects, events, social life, and extracurricular activities such as music and sport. We also welcome your longer term reflections on the impact Malvern has had on your life and work.

Request for Malvern Memorabilia

Your MRBS Archives Committee has been working hard for three years to organise over 30 boxes of archival materials in our Archives Room on Malvern's second floor (formerly the Library workroom). They comprise Malvern Muses since 1924, commencement programs since the early 1900s, concert and drama programmes, news clippings, trophies, crests, pins, posters, photos, and other memorabilia. Donna (Robb) Halliday (=65), a member of our Committee, is in the process of creating a computer database of all the items in the Malvern archival collection. We will also eventually be storing all the material in acid-free files and containers. We will then have archives that meet the current standards for archival collections across Canada. If you or other family members can bear to part with your Malvern memorabilia, please consider a donation to the Malvern Archives. We are very grateful for all donations of memorabilia and also any financial contributions to the cost of establishing and maintaining the permanent Malvern archives. Contributions to the Onward Malvern Foundation can be directed toward the archives. Thank you.

This year's AGM and Social will celebrate the senior members of the MRBS B the graduates of the 1920s, 1930s and 1940s. Please plan to attend. As this is a daytime event, we hope it will be more convenient for you.

We cordially invite Malvernites from these decades to attend the meeting and social at the Balmy Beach Club, at the foot of Beech Avenue. Parking will not be too difficult at that time of year. We will have a short business meeting, followed by a social with refreshments where you can renew old acquaintances. We also hope to sign up members for our Malvern Oral History Project (see below for more information).

The James D. Hogarth Award

Presented by
Ms. Kyle MacDonald, Class 1977
Mr. Jim Hogarth, Principal of MCI 1970-1977

Exciting news! On Thursday June 15, 2006 a happy announcement was made by Kyle MacDonald and Jim Hogarth. Working in close unison with MCI principal Line Pinard and her staff, the James D. Hogarth Award scholarship fund will be started. Kyle has been invited as the keynote speaker at MCI's November 10, 2006 Commencement and the first award will be presented.

Kyle MacDonald attended MCI from 1972-1977, where in addition to her excelling academically and athletically, she became the first female Student Council President at Malvern. It is during this time that Kyle and Mr. Hogarth became close friends, which continues to this day.

Upon graduation from MCI, Kyle attended The University of Western Ontario, where she graduated with MBA honours. Her success has continued to this day. She is the founder and CEO of Phoenix Interactive which she has led to international business success. Kyle is certainly a distinguished Malvernite.

Why this scholarship? Kyle has very happy memories of MCI, but also remembers the financial struggles she overcame to finish her university career. This scholarship is to honour Jim Hogarth and to make it financially possible for one student a year to begin university. It is her way to give back to Malvern.

What is the award? A 20-year commitment has been made to fund this award. Each year a financial sum of $10,000 will be awarded to one Malvern C.I. graduate who is planning to attend post-secondary school. The winner will be selected based upon financial need. A fundamental question will be, 'would our candidate be able to start post-secondary school without this award?'

The MRBS applauds the generosity and school spirit of Kyle MacDonald and Jim Hogarth. We also applaud the teamwork of Kyle, Jim, Line Pinard and her staff. This spirit of cooperation made this award a reality. Malvernites care.
